Scriptel Corporation is a manufacturing company based in Columbus, Ohio. They have been a leader in capacitive pen digitizing since 1982 and brought the first peripheral to mimic high-quality pen input on an LCD screen to market. Today, Scriptel manufactures a full suite of digital signature pads and workflow products for a wide variety of applications, including healthcare, retail, tax preparation, or wherever signature capture is needed. Products include the Slimline signature pad, a standby for any application; its Slimshield signature pad, that can be cleaned with Clorox to prevent the spread of germs; Scriptel's Compact signature pad, designed for those who are always on the go; and the Scriptel Review, which allows the user to read and review documentation prior to signing directly on the screen. Paired with Scriptel's intuitive and agile software, all of their signature pads are known for their rugged construction, quality, and reliability with plug-and-play solutions that make electronic record-keeping and digital signature easy. With a focus on customer satisfaction and support, Scriptel signature pads are truly enabling a paperless future.
